Documents & Messages
Storage & Management
A Unique Solution

If, like most businesses, you depend on emails and documents then their validity, storage, retrieval, categorisation and influence on process is critical to your success:

- the essential power of document management distilled into a comprehensive toolset ready for integration into your existing or new applications
- a flying start into enterprise document management at a fraction of the setup and ongoing costs compared to existing heavyweight solution providers
- documents and emails in one place that can be directly linked with business transactions in your database
- link to your own or our workflow solutions to drive critical business processes

HubSE can provide you with a straightforward solution to comprehensively manage all of your documents, emails, etc through one standard repository.

The Solution:

1. fully-featured document and mail management applications
2. can be directly linked into your own business applications or used "as is"
3. enterprise strength and ready for deployment across multiple global offices
4. a solid platform for growth
5. connectivity into our document exchange and process workflow solutions
